

FAQ

**Is there any research supporting the use of PEAK?* YES There are over 25 peer-reviewed published studies on various elements of the PEAK assessment and curriculum.

**What ages are most appropriate for using PEAK?* 18 months of age through the teenage years.

**How is PEAK different from other ABA assessments?* PEAK provides a much more comprehensive assessment across a wider range of language abilities and includes a corresponding curriculum.

Can I learn more about PEAK?

YES!! You can follow PEAK Relational Training System on Facebook and subscribe to their YouTube Channel at PEAKABA Videos

WHAT IS PEAK?

Created by Dr. Mark Dixon, the PEAK Relational Training System is an evaluation and curriculum guide for teaching basic and advanced language skills from a contemporary behavior analytic approach.

PEAK contains 4 separate learning modules to address 4 individual dimensions of language.

Direct Training – basic foundational learning abilities. Examples include eye contact, requesting items, and labeling items)

Generalization – heavily common-core standard driven and designed to take the basic concepts across contexts, stimuli, and people.

Equivalence – designed to teach concept formation and perceptual behavior.

Transformation –produces awareness of the abstract concepts of same, different, opposite, comparison, hierarchy, and perspective taking.